

Morningstar Tax Certification Form – FATCA (US) and CRS (Other Jurisdictions) (not for platform Investor Use)

effective from 30 November 2023

What are FATCA and CRS? Some background

The US Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and the Common Reporting Standard (CRS) are two ways in which governments around the world are seeking to improve global tax compliance. Both require financial institutions to capture and exchange relevant information on the financial assets of foreign citizens/residents, as follows:

- FATCA promotes cross border tax compliance by US citizens and US-resident taxpayers, by implementing an international standard for the automatic exchange of information related to those persons' financial accounts. Australia has entered into an inter-governmental agreement (IGA) with the US to implement FATCA in Australia, and administers this collection/reporting program through the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). The AUS-USA FATCA IGA requires the ATO to obtain and report detailed account information for U.S. citizens and US resident taxpayers on an annual basis. In order to effect this collection/reporting, each relevant Australian financial institutions is required to identify any US citizen or any US resident taxpayer holding a financial account with it and report that person's Australian financial account data to the ATO for its further reporting to the US Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The Tax Laws Amendment (Implementation of the FATCA Agreement) Act 2014 (Cth) gave domestic legal effect to the obligations by inserting Division 396-A FATCA into the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (Cth).
- CRS is a global reporting standard, developed by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), for the collection, reporting and exchange of financial account information on foreign tax residents. The goal of CRS is to allow the tax authorities in one jurisdiction to obtain a clearer understanding of financial assets held by their citizens/residents in another jurisdiction. Over 96 countries have agreed to share information on foreign residents' assets and incomes in accordance with defined reporting standards. Once again, this means that the financial institutions in each participating country (including Australia) must collect and provide the tax authorities in that country with the financial account data of each of their foreign customers, and that the tax authorities will then pass along this information to the tax authorities in the jurisdiction in which that customer claims citizenship/residence.

The Tax Laws Amendment (Implementation of the Common Reporting Standard) Act 2016 (Cth) gave domestic legal effect to the obligations by inserting Division 396-C Common Reporting Standard into the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (Cth).
