Dear Investor,

Updates to the Morningstar Investment Funds' PDS

We'd like to provide you with some updated information relating to the Morningstar Investment Funds. A number of product and regulatory developments have affected the Morningstar Investment Funds.

After reading this, no further action is required from you and the updated information will be reflected in new product disclosure statements (PDS) to be issued at the end of September 2017.

Product developments	Applies to

Product developments

1. Fund name change

Morningstar's suite of investment management services and businesses around the world have recently unified under the Morningstar brand. Moving to the Morningstar brand for the investment management business in Australia unites our investment management, data, research, ratings, and technology capabilities under one global brand that represents three decades of serving investors directly and indirectly around the world.

As a result, we're changing the name of a fund to better align with the broader Morningstar business:

	Name	Morningstar category
Current	Morningstar Conservative Real Return Fund	Morningstar Multisector Moderate Index
New	Morningstar Moderate Real Return Fund	Morningstar Multisector Moderate Index

Please note: there are no changes to the level of risk, investment objectives or the way your investment in this fund is managed. The name change is cosmetic in nature only.

2. Product feature changes – simplified asset classes and updated investment mix

As part of our regular review of asset classes and capital markets, we're:

- increasing the investment return objective of the Morningstar High Growth Real Return Fund, and
- updating the investment mix (strategic asset allocation) and growth/defensive percentages for our Diversified Suite.

We're also simplifying the way we disclose our asset classes and updating the asset allocation ranges for greater flexibility and consistency. We believe the simplification changes will help investors better understand our investment products.

The updates do not increase the risk level/profile categories or the way your investment(s) in the fund(s) are managed.

Refer to the appendices (A & B) on the back pages for details on the updated product features.

3. Reduced minimum and additional investment amount

Previously, the Morningstar Australian Shares Fund was offered primarily to institutional and wholesale investors and was not readily available to retail investors.

Based on investor feedback and demand, we've reduced the minimum initial and additional investment amounts to $20,000 (previously $500,000) and $5,000 (previously $100,000) accordingly.

The fund offers a simple and low-cost way to access an actively managed portfolio of high quality Australian businesses at attractive valuations.

Importantly, you should consider the disclosure document and seek financial advice to determine if the fund is appropriate for you, in line with your goals, objectives and current situation.

Regulatory developments

1. Morningstar opted in to AMIT – a new tax regime for managed funds

A new tax regime for managed funds called the Attribution Managed Investment Trust (AMIT) Regime was recently introduced. The AMIT Regime intends to reduce complexity and increase certainty around the tax treatment of managed funds.

Consistent with ASIC relief, and as we considered the AMIT Regime to be in the best interests of our investors, we've amended our funds' constitutions in order to elect into and operate under the new AMIT Regime. Our PDS tax section will be updated to reflect key elements of the new AMIT Regime.

For more detail, please read the notice we published on our website.

2. Changes to the way we disclose fees and costs

From 30 September 2017, we're changing the way investment fees and costs are presented in the PDS in line with ASIC's regulatory changes.

While there are some changes to the amounts of fees and costs presented, it's important to note that there are no new or additional fees being charged and there is no impact on the net returns you receive (after fees and costs) or how we calculate investment performance.

The regulatory changes require us to present all indirect expenses that are incurred in managing your investments. These include costs incurred via the use of investment vehicles which provide access to 'hard to access' investment opportunities. These costs are charged by service providers, such as investment banks and specialist external managers. While these costs have always been incurred and reflected in the net return received by investors, these will now be incorporated in the fees and costs information in our PDS.

3. Common Reporting Standard

The Common Reporting Standard (CRS) is a single global standard for collecting, reporting and exchanging financial account information of foreign tax residents. Under CRS banks and other financial institutions like investment funds will collect and report information to the ATO. The ATO will in turn exchange information with participating tax authorities.

From 1 July 2017, we updated our application form to allow for information we need to collect for CRS compliance. Our PDS will also be updated to reflect key elements of CRS requirements.

4. Access to dispute resolution process for platform investors

Morningstar aims to provide our investors with quality investment products and ongoing service, and has established resolution procedures in place for dealing with disputes. In addition to these procedures, we are a voluntary member of the Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS), a not-for-profit, non-government organisation that helps resolve disputes about financial services and products.

We are pleased to extend our dispute resolution procedures to retail clients who invest via a platform/investment administration service such as an Investor Directed Portfolio Service (IDPS), IDPS-like scheme or a nominee/custody service.

Need more information?

Further information will be available in the disclosure documents on or around 30 September 2017.

Alternatively, please contact your financial adviser, or a member of our distribution team between 9.00am and 5.00pm (Sydney time) Monday to Friday on 02 9276 4550, or email AUDistribution@morningstar.com.
